The Sentence of a Cold-Blooded Murderer.

A Murderer Sentenced.

WHEELING (W. Va.), Aug. 22.—The trial of Mrs. Jacob Morgan, in Tyler county, has come to an end with a verdict of murder in the first degree, and the woman has been sentenced to the penitentiary for life—the first case in the history of the State in which a woman has been given that punishment.

The murdered man was a cousin of General John Morgan, the celebrated Confederate leader and cavalry commander, and the crime was a cold-blooded one.

The woman's husband had been absent from home on the day of the murder, May 8, 1888, and on his return he sat down to supper, not knowing that his food was poisoned. While he was eating his wife went behind him and shot him in the back.

Morgan fell over and his wife cut his throat with a butcher-knife. She then ran to a neighbor's house and said that a stranger had come to her home, had asked for supper, and had shot her husband in the breast.

She immediately fled, she declared, and another stranger entered the house and cut her husband's throat.

The State succeeded in fixing the crime upon Mrs. Morgan, a woman testifying that she had said four or five days before the murder that her husband would be dead in six days. Another woman had called at the house while the table was being set, and was about to drink a cup of tea when Mrs. Morgan took it from her.

It was shown that a rifle in the house was loaded the day before the murder, but was empty after the crime was committed.

While in jail Mrs. Morgan was heard talking to herself, saying once: "I laid the plot and fixed him."

The Cholera in Spain.

MADRID, Aug. 22.—The Government physicians have announced their refusal to serve any longer in the cholera-infected districts unless they are given a strong military escort. They declare that the peasants are opposing all attempts to institute sanitary precautions and even resort to force in order to prevent them from doing their duty, and that under the circumstances an abatement in the virulence of the disease is quite impossible.

The city of Argos has been deserted by all its inhabitants, only those who are down with cholera and a few relatives who refuse to desert them being left. The Mayor, who is the only remaining official in the city, yesterday buried his own son, all the grave-diggers having fled the city. Of 123 people who have been attacked by the disease, forty-four have died during the last four days.

Unsettled Condition of the Railroad Strike.

A Confidence Woman Captured in New York.

More Railroad Strikers.

ALBANY (N. Y.), Aug. 23.—Superintendent Hammond of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad this morning told the switchmen at Green Island that they would accept and deliver to the New York Central all freight. The yardmen and freight handlers then struck. One of the strikers said a strike on the Delaware & Hudson has been ordered between Albany and Green Island.

Troy (N. Y.), Aug. 23.—Nearly all the yardmen employed on the Troy, Delaware & Hudson at Green Island struck this morning. The men refused to handle the New York Central freight at that point. The Delaware & Hudson Company notified the Fitchburg railroad that it will not receive any more freight at present.

TERRE HAUTE (Ind.), Aug. 23.—At 12 o'clock the Supreme Council of Railroad men was still in secret session. An earnest debate is in progress. At 1:30 President Sargent was not yet through with his report. It will probably be 5 or 6 o'clock before the council adjourns.

Powderly this morning was asked about Chief Arthur's statement that the latter could not answer a letter which had not been addressed to him personally, but which had been given to the newspapers, and he said:

"Arthur never answers any communications I send him. When I went to Cleveland I wired him that I was going to meet him, but, although I scoured the town for him, I could not find him. He never showed any disposition to meet me. All I want Arthur to do is to declare which side he is on. Is he for the workmen or for the corporation?"

A Notorious Woman Captured.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Emma Morgan, alias Forge, an octogenarian, who has figured in several scrapes in San Francisco and Denver, was arrested yesterday and arraigned in Court, charged with robbing a wealthy and prominent merchant of Spokane Falls, with whom she kept company on a visit to this city. When he left her here he missed $1,900 of his money, and he notified the police. The police refused to disclose the merchant's name. Emma was remanded until the merchant is notified.

The Conscript Kicking.

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—Several representatives G. A. R. men in this city are promoting the formation of an encampment of a Union Veteran Legion, to be made up of withdrawals from the G. A. R., in the administration of whose affairs it is said there is considerable dissatisfaction among the members. Drafted men and substitutes are not eligible to membership in the Legion.

Following Silver.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Wheat was wild and excited at the opening this morning, on the report of cold weather in the Dakotas and frost north of this place. December wheat opened with a scattering sale or two at 102½, but fell back to 109½ at 11:15 o'clock, and held strong around that figure.

Young Cannibals.

BUCKINGHAM (Que.), Aug. 23.—Yesterday Mrs. Cote went berry picking and left her child in charge of two boys, deaf mutes of unsound mind. On her return she found the deaf mutes had killed the child and partly eaten its body. The maniacs must have attacked the child shortly after the mother departed.

Taken Home for Burial.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The remains of John Ericsson, the inventor, were shipped to-day on the steamer Enterprise to Sweden, his native land, for final interment.

To Be Investigated.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Government has initiated an official inquiry into the reported failure of the potato crop in Ireland.

THE ALIEN CONTRACT LABOR LAW.

WASHINGTON, August 22.—The amended Alien Contract Labor law bill was presented in the House to-day from the Committee on Labor. Its principal features are that it is made unlawful on the part of an alien to enter the United States under any contract to perform labor or service. It shall not be lawful for any person or corporation to encourage any alien laborer, mechanic or artisan to emigrate from any foreign country to the United States by promise of employment through advertisement or otherwise. The provisions of this Act shall not apply to actors, artists, lecturers, regularly ordained ministers of the gospel, learned professors for colleges and seminaries or professional singers.

5 O'CLOCK EDITION.

Come and See.

We have evidently hit the editor of the Silver State below the belt, if we can judge anything by the way he bellows. We did not intend to hit him quite so low, however, for he claims a foul, and perhaps justly so. We were laboring under the impression that his office was on a sand hill, but, from the way he resents it, we think we must be mistaken, and gracefully apologize, not that we think an apology is necessary, but it may appease his anger. He seems to be losing his head, but with silver going up like a rocket it is not to be wondered at that he is disappointed and cross. Here is what he says about the Board of Trade:

The Reno Gazette is in a constrained position to inform its readers that the Board of Trade is not a political organization. The editor of the Gazette is Secretary of the Board of Trade, and, as proof of his fitness for the place, alludes to Winnemucca as a "sand heap," and intimates that the Silver State was first to rescue the Board of being a political organization.

Of course the reference to Winnemucca as a "sand heap" by the Secretary of the Board will cause the citizens of this town to apply in a body for membership in that organization, and contribute liberally to increase the circulation of the Gazette, which seems to be its official organ, and as for the intimation that the Silver State first charged that it was a political organization, no comment is necessary. The belief has been general for some time, not only in Winnemucca, but in other parts of the State, that the Board of Trade was a quasi-political organization, having for its principal objects, the booming of Reno town lots and Reno politicians, and the recent acts of members of the Board show that the belief is well founded.

True, Allen C. Bragg is Secretary of the Board, and has acted as such since it started. He has not received one dollar for his services, directly or indirectly, and has even paid money out of his own pocket for extra clerical labor. He has worked honestly and faithfully to assist the organization in every way possible in its laudable undertaking to develop the resources of Nevada, and has no apology to make to the Silver State, nor any one else, for the work done in that direction.

The editor of the Silver State is a member of the Board of Directors, and if he had taken the trouble to attend any of the meetings of the Board he would not be trying to create the impression that it is a "political organization to boom town lots in Reno." The Board of Trade needs no defense at our hands, and we do not intend to make any. We will throw this hint out to the Silver State man, however: attend the meetings, and if you see anything to justify you in reporting that it is a "political organization to boom town lots in Reno," go home and use your most frantic efforts in tearing down what the Board is building up, but do not persist in your misrepresentations without knowing what you are talking about.

In our opposition to Mr. Foley for the State Senate we do not wish it understood as discouraging gentlemen from coming here, making investments, building homes and running for the Senate if they want to. If Mr. Foley had ever taken up a bona fide residence here we do not know that we should have offered any opposition to his candidacy, although it would have been our privilege if we saw fit to have done so. Mr. Foley's home, house and furniture are still in Eureka. He comes here, it is true, when his business calls him, puts up at a hotel, stays until his affairs are attended to, then goes to San Francisco, Salt Lake or home. He has money invested in all these places and divides up his time as best suits him. He might just as well claim a residence in Salt Lake as Reno. In fact, he did take up a residence in Salt Lake a few years ago and the legitimacy of his intention has been under discussion in the Grand Lodge of Masons ever since.

The New York Executive Committee of the Grant Monument Association met last Wednesday and protested against the removal of the remains of General Grant. That is about all the association seems to do, and a protest which has nothing but itself to back it should receive scant consideration.

A rich gold discovery is reported in Connecticut. After the experience of the country with wooden hams and nutmegs and shoe-peg oats, Connecticut gold will be an object of suspicion, and reports will be discounted.

HOW SHE ESCAPED.

It's an Ill Wind that Doesn't Blow Good to Somebody.

"Early in the '90s I was a railroad telegraph operator down in Georgia," said he to a Philadelphia Inquirer reporter, "and I had a mighty narrow escape from being lynched one day. It was in the afternoon. A gang of darkies came along to where my station was, about three miles from any human habitation. They had in their grasp a beautiful young white girl, and they tied herfast to one rail of the track, right before my eyes. They then stood there, and pointing revolvers at my head said if I interfered in any way they would murder me. Five minutes before the Atlantic express was due they departed, leaving the girl on the track to be out in two by the train. I was in terrible suspense. I knew I would be called to be killed, but I was afraid to signal the train to stop, because I knew the darkies would kill me if I did. But I was going to save my position anyhow. Just as the train passed my signal station I ran down the track and with a pair of pliers cut the wire connecting the signal to the station. By doing this I thought I could tell the railroad officials that the vandals had cut the wire, so that I could not signal the train. See the fine point? Well, while I was cutting the wire the wind came up suddenly and blew a perfect tornado. Big oak trees were blown over so that their tops touched the ground, and I had to hang on to the track so that I wouldn't be blown away. Well, when I went up the track I saw those darkies running away, and I supposed that the girl had been out in two. I was prepared to look upon a horrible sight, but to my great joy and utter astonishment, she was still alive. I cut the rope with my pliers and released her. I carried her tenderly up to the signal station, bound up the gashes made in her limbs by the rope, and—"

"And what?" asked somebody.
"And I asked her to be my wife."
"What did she say?"
"She thanked me for my bravery, and softly murmured: 'Yes.'"
"But how was it the train didn't kill her?"
"I never found out until two years afterward. Then I met the engineer of that very train. He explained to me that just as the train was about to strike the girl that heavy gust of wind came along. It was so powerful that it lifted one side of the train over, making it run on one rail for about five hundred feet before it fell back on the other rail. It so happened that the girl was tied to the rail from which the wheels raised, and that's how she escaped."

SALEM'S SNAKE WOMAN.

Leading a Hermit's Life with Rattles as Her Only Companions.

Martha Ann Tillson, the singular character who died at Salem, Ind., recently, was known as the "Snake Woman." Many were the stories afloat about her during her lifetime, as she would associate with no one. She lived in a little cabin at the foot of Twelve O'clock Knob, and led a hermit's life, having no one to share her abode except snakes. By the few who were ever allowed to see the interior of her cabin it is said to have literally swarmed with her strange companions, with which she ate and slept, and which were to be seen lying in her bosom and coiled about her neck, body and limbs whenever she was caught sight of.

Her extraordinary predilection for these unpleasant creatures is supposed to have arisen from a morbid feeling that she was, like them, hated of men; for, naturally deformed, she received in addition an injury to the spine while an infant, and, though perfectly sound of mind, was of so sensitive a nature as to render her miserable and uneasy in the presence of any but her parents, as she imagined herself an object of loathing and hatred to them. This she seemed to feel while still a little child, for her peculiar friendship began then.

She was observed to steal away every day with a pan of milk, and on being followed was found to be caressing a dozen or so of rattlesnakes, while they drank from the vessel which she held in her lap. Horrified, her parents tried to reason with her, then to punish, and finally to confine her in an endeavor to break her of her fondness for the reptiles, but she pined so for her pets that they feared she would die if kept from them. She evinced even stronger distaste for human society as she grew older, and, since the death of her parents, has withdrawn entirely from any association with her kind, living wholly on the product of a small garden cultivated by herself and of half a dozen chickens, which the snakes seemed to know were not legitimate prey, and left unmolested.

She was a little, fair woman of about forty-five, with sandy hair, very abundant and long, which she wore in a number of tight plaits, which, combined with her deformity and the odd, miscellaneous style of dressing, the result of her refusal to hold any communication with a fellow-being, served to make her a most remarkable-looking object. She was looked upon as a witch by the negroes about, who declared her to be possessed of the evil eye, and hated and feared her accordingly, though her life was a most harmless, quiet one.

She had been dead some days when discovered, and her dead body was liberally covered with a writhing mass of snakes, which had to be killed before it could be removed, for the reptiles turned viciously on all approaching the remains. On her heart was found coiled a large rattlesnake, dead.

The inquest proved that the woman's was a natural death, and it is probable that the snake died of grief for its mistress. She left no heirs, and a few nights after her burial the house was burned down, it is supposed by some of her neighbors, as the greatest horror was felt for the place, which was still infested with snakes.

Caused by Tight Collars.

Dr. Forster, director of the Ophthalmic University at Breslau, has figured out a connection between tight collars and short-sightedness. He alleges that in three hundred cases that have come under his attention the eyesight had been affected by the pressure of such collars upon the muscles of the neck, disturbing the circulation of blood to the head.

Make No Mistake

If you decide, from what you have heard of its cures or read of its merits, that you will take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy something else which may be claimed to be "about the same" as "just as good." Remember that the sole reason for efforts to get you to purchase some substitute is that more profit may be made. Firmly resist all inducements, and insist upon having just what you called for, Hood's Sarsaparilla. Then you will not be experimenting with a new article, for Hood's Sarsaparilla is Tried and True.

"In one store the clerk tried to induce me to buy their own instead of Hood's Sarsaparilla. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was, I had taken it, was perfectly satisfied with it, and did not want any other." Mrs. ELIA A. GORR, 61 Terrace Street, Boston, Mass.

The Problem Solved—An Unrivalled Blood Purifier.

Found at last in Ribbard's Rheumatic Syrup—A remedy which expels all poisons from the blood, and cures all diseases of the blood. A well known citizen of West Lebanon, Ind., testifies to its value.

GENTLEMEN: It affords me pleasure to state that my wife has received great benefit from Ribbard's Rheumatic Syrup. From any medicine she has ever taken. We have used six bottles, and find it the best family remedy and the greatest blood purifier we have ever used. It is truly all is claimed to be by it. Founder. You cannot recommend it highly enough. The success of Mrs. Annie M. Bean, of McKeesport, Pennsylvania, in the treatment of diarrhoea in her children will undoubtedly be of interest to many mothers. She says: "I spent several weeks in James town, Pa., after the great flood, on account of my husband being employed there. We had several children with us, two of whom took the diarrhoea very badly. I got some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy from Rev. Mr. Chapman. I cured both of them, and was tried in several other cases where it was equally successful. I think it cannot be excelled and cheerfully recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Shoemaker & Co.

Rev. F. M. Shroul, pastor United Brethren Church, Blue Mound, Kansas, says: "I feel it my duty to let you know that Dr. King's New Discovery has done for me. My lungs were badly diseased, and my parishioners thought I could live only a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery and am sound and well, gaining 25 pounds in weight."

Arthur Love, Manager Love's Punny Folks Combination, writes: "After a thorough trial and convincing evidence, I am convinced that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption beats 'em all, and cures every thing else fails. The many kind friends I can do my many thousand friends is to use them to try it. Free trial bottles at W. F. Pinner's drug store. Reg. at 50c and $1.00."

Summer Complaint.—A druggist at Britt, Hancock County, Iowa, relates his experience with this disease as follows: During the summer of 1882, my little girl, two years of age, was taken seriously ill with summer complaint, so common to children of the season, and after being treated by a physician and getting no better, I took from my shelves a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. She felt relieved after the first dose, and in three days was entirely well.—ALEX. MOIR. For sale by Shoemaker & Co.

Speech.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed, so common to children of the season, and after being treated by a physician and getting no better, I took from my shelves a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. She felt relieved after the first dose, and in three days was entirely well.—ALEX. MOIR. For sale by Shoemaker & Co.

For "summer complaint," says Ben L. Bear, a prominent druggist of Los Angeles, Cal., "I know of no remedy so sure and safe to use as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy." Mr. Bear is not alone in entertaining that opinion, as, wherever known, the remedy is praised by all who use it. For sale by Shoemaker & Co.

"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are widely known as an admirable remedy for bronchitis, hoarseness, coughs and throat troubles. Sold only in boxes.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Labors To Be Commenced on Monday Next.

On Monday next the bell of the public school will again send its kindly summons abroad, and after a rest of nine weeks both teacher and pupil should be ready with body and mind alike refreshed. The teachers are gathering in from the places where they have spent their vacation, some from the mountains, some from the seashore, some from their homes in other parts of the State and others from "below," as difficult to definitely locate as the "down East" of the New England yankees. The past year witnessed many changes in the corps of teachers employed, and when the school re-opens many new faces will be seen among them. In their selections for the coming year the Trustees cannot be accused of importing teachers, the positions being filled by girls who belong to Reno, all of the educational institutions of the town, with the exception of St. Mary's school, from which none applied, furnishing representatives. As in the past, no pains will be spared to make the school a success, and although young and untired teachers are to fill some of the positions, the training they have received, the enthusiasm with which they enter upon their work, their knowledge that "nothing succeeds like success," and that they cannot afford to fail, of themselves almost insure good work and satisfaction to all concerned.

Appropos of the above is a bit of experience gained some years since by one of the older teachers that may serve to point a moral, perhaps.

THE TEACHER'S REWARD.

Some years since a certain teacher in a town not far from Virginia numbered among her pupils a young girl of French and Irish parentage, good-looking above the average, but shallow-minded, vain and fond of admiration. She was a source of constant watchfulness, and an anxiety to her father, her mother having died in her infancy. Knowing these things, the teacher became especially interested in the girl, and gave her much wise counsel and advice. In the course of time the teacher left the school, married, and naturally lost sight of the pupil, now developed into womanhood, until the latter was brought to her mind through the tragic death of her father and of others in a burning mine, caused, it is said, by the waywardness of the girl. The father, having spent several nights in search of her, was worn out, and slept at his post in the mine, fire and fearful death being the result.

Not long after the ex-teacher and ex-pupil, meeting in a public conveyance, the former inquired the unpleasant things said, chatted kindly with the latter, their conversation at length turning on their old school days together. After a little a bright thought seemed to strike the young woman, and she spoke up with great animation:

"Oh, Mrs. Blank, there are some 'hinges' you taught me I shall never forget."

"Yes, perhaps, my teachings were not all in vain," thought the teacher, eager to know, and glad if she had been able to do any good, and feeling that she was about to receive some reward for the same.

"Yes, indeed," continued the girl, "I shall never forget that you taught me to put my pins in so that they wouldn't show, and to wear only one color in ribbons at a time."

Of all the teaching and counsel she had received these were all she remembered. Is it any wonder that the teacher's spirits elated to zero, or that after years as a teacher she sometimes thought of this circumstance, and almost became weary in well-doing?

A New Cattle Disease.

The Silver State says: The strange and fatal cattle disease which is prevalent at Battle Mountain extends west on the Humboldt to Stone House. Charles Nelson, who lives on the river, has lost all his cows. Some of the cows were kept up, but they succumbed to the disease the same as those running on the river bottom. They do not appear to suffer, and are rarely ailing over a few hours, the disease generally proving fatal in that time.

The District Attorneyship. ERRORS GAZETTE: Although no public announcement of the fact has yet been made, it is generally understood that there are two aspirants for District Attorney—Mr. Allen, the present incumbent, and Mr. Julien, County Clerk. Both gentlemen have filled their respective stations acceptably, each of them possesses the necessary qualifications to fill him for the office the other holds. Mr. Allen, as District Attorney and County Superintendent of Schools, has made a good record, and Mr. Julien, after six years' service as County Clerk, seeks a change. Without ignoring either, the graceful thing for the Convention to do is to place the one in the position the other now holds.

A. DELEGATE. Reno, August 23, 1890.

A Lack of Interest.

The San Francisco World's Fair Association discovers a lack of interest among the citizens in promoting the representation of the city and State in Chicago in 1892. This, says the Bulletin, may be due in part to the wrangle over the site and the uncertainty as to the disposal of the State's exhibit. California wants to bunch her display, knowing well that she can afford to challenge comparison with other States. The Chicago Fair will be her opportunity, and should be missed by no lukewarmness on the part of her people. At the same time steps should be taken to secure the unity of her exhibit.

A Reported Combination.

A curious story is circulating in Lower Canada to the effect that a trade has been made between the Liberal party and "certain United States politicians" by the terms of which the party of the second part is to contribute $1,000,000 for use in the next Dominion election, in return to be advocated of absolute reciprocity between the United States and Canada by the party of the first part.

Blown to Atoms.

J. M. Murchie was a miner employed in the Lenhardt and South mine, not far from Phoenix, A. T. On the 13th he went into a tunnel to find a cool place and to enjoy a comfortable smoke. He lit his pipe and threw the match into a keg of blasting powder. He was blown to atoms.

Worse and Worse.

Some one writes to the New York Tribune to inquire whether "electrocution" is a legitimate verbal coinage, and the Tribune says it is not, and that if we want a word to convey the idea of death by electricity, "electrothanasia" is the proper coinage.

Encouragement for the Feeble.

So long as the falling embers of vitality are capable of being kindled into a warm and genial glow, just as long there is hope for the weak and emaciated invalid. Let him not, therefore, despond, but derive encouragement from this and the further fact that it is a restorative most potent in renewing the debilitated powers of a broken down system. Yes, thanks to its unexcelled tonic virtues, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is daily reviving strength in the bodies and hope in the minds of the feeble and nervous. Age, life, refreshing sleep, the question of food and color, are blessings attendant upon its reparative processes, which this priceless liquid so speedily initiates and carries to a successful conclusion. Digestion is restored, the blood purified and renewed, and the system as a whole is invigorated. It is a restorative, a tonic, a stimulant, a purifier, a blood-builder, a nerve-strengthening agent, a general health-giver, and a thoroughly safe. Use it and regain vigor.

A PREHISTORIC VILLAGE.

Ruins of One Discovered Near Parkersburg, West Virginia.

The site of a prehistoric village has just been discovered on the Ohio side of the river, about one and one-half miles north of Parkersburg, West Virginia. The town site comprises an area of about four acres, and over the entire area the earth is generally slightly raised, having a reddish color, and is thickly intermixed with fragments of pottery, streaks of ashes, and fragments of bones of animals and human beings.

In several places to be seen the ruins of what seem to be ancient fireplaces, containing charcoal, intermixed with charred nuts of various sorts. In and around these fireplaces are found ornaments and instruments, such as battle axes, belts, knives, drills, spear and arrow points, and ornaments made of bone and slate. The spear and arrow heads are of fine workmanship, and are all of very hard substances, as agate, chalcedony, carnelian, quartz, jasper and slate.

A Serious Charge. J. W. Porter, aged 60, is charged with the murder, last September, of Miss Abbey, a spinster dressmaker, on the Otay Mesa, in San Diego county, Cal., where she lived on a claim she had taken up. Strangely enough the charge is made by his own relatives, and there is a growing belief that they are on getting rid of the old man in this way.

Real Estate Swindlers. C. C. Sarius, alias Charles Raymond, and James Dagnall, alias James Randall, were arrested in Seattle recently as swindlers, after having made $300 or $400. They induced men to take up land claims, and promised on the payment of a certain fee to purchase the land for $1,000 when the claims were proved up.

A Spielmark Swindler. An old man named Robinson, traveling from Ogden to Denver, exchanged $100 in greenbacks for five "spielmarks" made to resemble $20 gold pieces on one side. The train was just pulling out of Ogden, and the confidence operator jumped off and made his escape.

A Dynamiter Caught. Sheriff Thorn, after a long chase to Jackson, Amador county, Cal., then back across the hills to Copperopolis, captured the Angels dynamite fiend at that place last Wednesday. This is the case where the house in which there were five Italians was blown up at Angels.

Reasonable Rates Demanded. The order of the Interstate Commerce Commission reducing grain rates on railroads in several States west of the Mississippi river opens the question as to the authority of the Commission to make such an order. The Commission has acted under that clause of the law which insures reasonable rates.

A LOST ADDRESS.

A Trinidad Lady Writes to San Francisco for It.

Mrs. Harriet McNamara of 319 State Street, Trinidad, Colorado, while visiting in St. Louis last summer, did not suffer with her usual sick headaches and indigestion. But upon her return to Trinidad her old troubles came upon her. It was not the St. Louis climate that did so much for her. The secret is told in the following letter, received by Thomas Price & Son, the well-known purveyors of 524 Sacramento Street, San Francisco. Mrs. McNamara writes:

"Three months since I was visiting in St. Louis, and obtained two bottles of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. It was of great relief to me in my indigestion and headache. Since my return to my home in Trinidad I feel the need of it, and as I have lost the address I write to you to ask if you will kindly forward this letter to the proper number in San Francisco, and have me sent a few more bottles of this valuable vegetable compound."

People having used Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla once send hundreds of miles to get it again, as in the above instance.
